Where the network sends its money ($9,121,484) spend outside of USA, by region:

Atlas far right graduates

Jorge Martín Frías (Spain)

Member of the European Parliament (VOX); Director of VOX's think tank, Fundación Disenso; Founder of Atlas-linked Floridablanca Network.

Axel Kaiser (Chile)

President of Fundación para el Progreso (Atlas Network); key ideologue and close advisor to Javier Milei; advisor to Colombian presidential candidate Vicky Dávila; brother Johannes Kaiser secured 13.94% as the National Libertarian Party candidate in Chile's 2025 presidential elections.

Kim Kataguiri (Brazil)

Member of the Chamber of Deputies; Founder of Atlas-affiliated Free Brazil Movement (MBL), which led the impeachment campaign against left-wing President Dilma Rousseff.

Javier Milei (Argentina)

President of Argentina; Atlas Network's flagship success story; recipient of the Fundación Atlas Liberty Prize; "Chainsaw economics" promoted globally by the network as a replicable model.

David Seymour (New Zealand)

Deputy Prime Minister and leader of ACT New Zealand; graduate of Atlas Network's 'MBA for Think Tanks' program

Yeonmi Park (USA/North Korea)

Conservative commentator and North Korean defector; elevated by Atlas-affiliated Young Voices; routinely compares U.S. progressive policies to North Korean totalitarianism.

Liz Truss (UK)

Former Prime Minister; closely aligned with the Atlas partner Institute of Economic Affairs, credited with designing the 'Trussonomics' budget that crashed the British pound and forced her resignation after only days in office.

Naomi Seibt (Germany/USA)

Political influencer; hired by Atlas-affiliated Heartland Institute as the 'Anti-Greta Thunberg'; shifted from climate denial to promoting white nationalist rhetoric and Germany's far-right AfD; recently applied for asylum in the U.S.
